

Bus tour through Manhattan

Our bus tour starts in Brooklyn. Now, we are gonna drive over the Brooklyn Bridge. The Brooklyn Bridge is 1,825 meters long. It has got six lanes where only cars drive. Under the bridge there is the East River. Now we are in Manhattan because the Brooklyn Bridge connects Brooklyn and Manhattan.

On the left you can see the South Street Seaport.

Now, we go on a ferry to Liberty Island. On Liberty Island we find the Statue of Liberty. The statue is recognized as an universal symbol of freedom and democracy. It is 93 meters high.

After we have seen the Statue of Liberty we drive to Ground Zero. Ground Zero is the place where the World Trade Center stood. Today it's a memorial.

On the left and on the right you can see Chinatown. Chinatown has got 90,000 to 100,000 habitants.

On the left you can see the Union Square Park.

Here, on the right you can see Madison Square Garden.

Then, we cross the Times Square with it's many big neon signs.

Now, we drive through the 5th Avenue. There are many shopping possibilities.

On the left you can see Central Park. Central Park is 4.07 kilometers long and 860 meters wide. It has got an area of 341 hectares.

That was the bus tour through Manhattan. I hope you enjoyed it!
